

Our Response

Need to talk?

In these unfamiliar times if you have questions, need help, or you'd just like to talk to someone, please give us a call at 248-786-0600.

Our Campus Care Providers are ready and available to talk 7 days a week between 8am-9pm, and we will listen, encourage, and connect you with help (if needed). Our goal at the Help Bank is to support people through the rough spots in life by sharing information and resources about our ministries at Kensington and those available in the community. Whether it's talking you through a tough decision or providing your family with practical resources (or even a gift card for groceries), we're here and ready to help.

Move Out Opportunities

We have the opportunity to 'be the church' by bringing hope to our communities and meeting the practical needs of our neighbors in this uncertain time. We are currently working with our School Partners and Move Out Teams to determine the best ways to serve the most vulnerable of our neighbors. For the most up-to-date resources and updates, check out kensingtonchurch.org/coronavirus. This website is constantly being updated and expanded with new information.

Midweek and Weekend Services

Just because we aren't gathering together physically, doesn't mean we're not having church. We are going to worship, hear a special message, and be in community together online for Midweek on Wednesdays at 7pm, and Weekends on Saturdays at 5:30pm and Sundays at 9am, 11am, and 12:30pm.

Find us streaming services on YouTube, Facebook, the app and the website.

Groups

While all of our ministries, events and groups meeting at our facilities are suspended, we are actively navigating how to stay socially distanced yet stay spiritually connected. As groups decide whether they meet or not, we recommend staying socially distanced but connecting digitally instead. There are great technology opportunities available during this time and we suggest using Skype for connecting as a group. We also encourage groups to check out www.kensingtonchurch.org/rightnowmedia for Bible study content, and the Bible app YouVersion for daily devotions and encouragement during this new rhythm. Together we can stay in community and support each other.

To use Skype with your group, use this link: kchur.ch/meet

Group text messages are another great way to keep socially engaged and stay connected spiritually with each other.

Small Group Materials & Discipleship

Right Now Media is a resource that Kensington has purchased and is available to anyone that attends Kensington for FREE. Similar to Netflix, Hulu, and Amazon Prime, Right Now Media is packed full of shows, studies, leadership development tools, and TONS of kids programming. RightNow Media has one goal in mind: “To grow you and your family spiritually.”

Right Now Media has tons of great family studies and discussions: rightnowmedia.org/Search?q=parenting%20resources

Mission Trips

All of our short-term trips have been placed on a temporary hold. In the event this crisis is resolved in a timely manner we will work tirelessly to get these trips ready to head out as originally scheduled. If that doesn't happen we will put plans in place to re-engage these teams at a future point in time.

Kensington Kids

We pray this time can be one of connection and growth as a family as you engage in God's story together. The Kensington Kids early childhood (ages 2-5) and elementary (grades K-5) videos and lessons are available for your family to experience together. As well, each campus will be emailing weekly curriculum that we encourage you to lead your kids through.

Please check kensingtonchurch.org/coronavirus for specific campus kids connection times and ways to connect on Instagram and Facebook with our KKids ministry.

Student Ministries

We will be sending a weekly email out to our students, parents and families that has devotionals for the week, parent cue, a video link to our content and small group questions. All for the parents to lead their kids and students in during the week around the dinner table and in conversation. We will be supporting that with a live stream event each week for each campus ministry to virtually connect with and encourage our students as well as connect via Instagram and social media!

Please check kensingtonchurch.org/coronavirus for specific campus Students' live stream times and ways to connect on Instagram.

18/29 Young Adults

We are hosting a live element each week at 7pm on our Instagram and Facebook in place of our Tuesday Night gatherings. Additionally, we'll have video devotionals and content throughout the week for young adults to stay engaged with us on our social media!
